- Acting for a bankrupt who was charged under the Insolvency Act 1986 for failing to disclose his assets, in particular the existence of Swiss bank accounts and gold ingots. The case involved assisting the bankrupt’s criminal lawyers in understanding the Insolvency Act but also leading negotiations with the bankrupt’s Trustee in Bankruptcy in order to compromise the bankrupt’s affairs, partly with a view to mitigating the criminal charges.
- Acting for liquidators of a multimillion pound fraud investigation against the former directors of an AIM listed natural resources company following the transferring of shares in subsidiary companies for questionable consideration. This matter is being run in close co-operation with the Serious Fraud Office (SFO) and the Financial Services Authority (FSA).
- Acting for liquidators of a multimillion pound land banking scheme, which misled investors about the true investment value and the expectation of future development of the sites. This matter involves hundreds of creditors in which the liquidators are seeking to recover several million pounds and is being pursued in close co-operation with the FSA.
- Acting for a trustee in bankruptcy of a dealer in residential and commercial properties, where there was ongoing complicated litigation with other investors in those properties. We had to identify which matters were worth pursuing and which ones were not, in order to avoid our client incurring liability for other parties’ legal costs.
- Acting for a third party in determining the limit of a liquidator’s powers to compel the delivery of information and documentation under section 236 of the Insolvency Act 1986.
- Acting for the Trustee in the bankruptcy of three debtors who together operated an illegal pyramid scheme called Planline. The matter involved undertaking detailed examinations of numerous antecedent transactions to place assets out of reach of creditors, pursuing investigations to recover assets in Italy, the Baltics and Switzerland and working closely with the FSA and SFO.
- Acting for the liquidator of a distributor in claims against directors and shareholders regarding dividends and property transactions which depleted the company’s assets. The case was settled at a mediation.

Advising on the sale of the charged land for £10 million, and the extent to which the security provides for the consideration to be released to the chargee. Advising on the investors’ claims, their interests in land, and the anti-deprivation principle.
