Partner

Head of Immigration

Dhruti Thakrar joined Edwin Coe in November 2013 and has been a solicitor since 1992 after training with a Central London firm. Upon completion of her training she joined a legal practice and specialised in immigration work before setting up the highly respected practice of Vincent Buffoni & Co in 1994 as one of the principal partners.

Over the last 20 years Dhruti has specialised in all aspects of UK immigration work and has developed a significant amount of expertise in Sponsor Licensing work for UK Employers wishing to employ non-EU nationals, Start-up and Innovator visa (previously known as Tier 1 entrepreneur and investor) applications for non-European migrants seeking to become business owners or investors in the UK. She also deals with complex Nationality applications and Immigration Appeals and is able to boast an almost 100 per cent success rate in matters dealt with by her to date.

She has extensive contacts in Europe, India, China, Canada and Australia and can facilitate the needs of clients who either wish to emigrate or do business in any of those countries.
